

as and or using upcycling

egs, lining up the est way.
ay thread or yarn,
arms and legs. Punch
l, a sharp pencil, or a rough the holes and open ok thread or yarn and knot but can work if you're ve it a face (don't can make pieces of dit for these

bit, cat & bear

ngs to get your paper world started...

make your own

rabbit
cat
or bear

paper animal character

a scrapbasket toy from craftdesignworks

GAR

THE
THIS

D'APPLICATION

te couleur d'ébène.

ne vous y mettez pas

etez un peu moins bas, eaux, pillards de chanevières...

Dans ce verger, n'y nichez point;

O roitelet à roncez

Paper rabbit, cat & bear

...and a few little things to get your paper world started...

Paper rabbit, cat & bear

For each animal, cut out one head/body piece, two arms and two legs from thick paper or thin card. Extra credit for using something you were planning to recycle...now you're upcycling it instead.

You can make your animal 2 different ways:

1. Use a dot of glue to attach the arms and legs, lining up the gray dots for positioning. This is the easiest way.
2. If you have some mini-brads or some heavy thread or yarn, you can make your animal with moving arms and legs. Punch holes through the gray dots with an awl or the point of a sharp pencil. Put the mini-brads through the holes and open them up, or thread through your thick thread or yarn and knot it on each side. This is more fiddly but can work if you're careful and persistent.

OK! Now you have an animal toy. You can give it a face (don't forget whiskers for the rabbit and the cat). You can make clothes for it. You can make a bed for it. Even tiny pieces of fabric will make good things for your animal. Extra credit for using things you were planning to recycle or throw away. These animals are earthkeepers and love reusing things.

You can make a house for your animal, or even a town or even a city. You can make one animal or a family or a bunch of friends. You can make other kinds of animals, like maybe a lion using the cat pattern for a start.

I know you're already thinking of lots of different ideas and I hope you have a wonderful time making your animals and making a little paper world for them.

Pippa

pippa@craftdesignworks.com